the view from the street, were ordered removed from pool rooms by police yesterday in a tour of inspection.The inspection party included
Mayor Ralph C. Benedum, Service-
Safety Director J. W. Moore, Chief of Police McDermott and Captain Conley.Seven downtown pool rooms and four in the East End were visited.Pool room owners were also instructed to keep rear doors unlocked
so that police can enter at any time during business hours. One pool room which is said to have covered windows at the rear of the establish-the windows from duck pins, and ordered to clear the windows.A partition, which separates a lunch room from the billiard parlor in another establishment was ordered cut down to the level of the counters.In another place an iron railing which had been erected around a pool table was ordered removed."We want to see what is going on in pool rooms," said Director Moore today. "Police will make frequent visits to these places and we don't want them obstructed. Buzzers at doors are also forbidden."

Biggest News of 1929.
We're Nice, to Britain.
Mr. Gates, Judge Gary.
The Weeping Racket.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)THE Pope formally announces a pact with Mussolini's Italian government, restoring in part the pope's temporal power, abolished by Garibaldi, and adjusting long differences between the Vatican and Italy's government.HISTORIANS will consider this the most important news of 1929.The pope's holdings of land will be increased and $105,000,000 will be paid to him in cash and bonds.The new papal state will have its own coinage, railway station, telegraph, telephone and postoffice departments.THE Federal Reserve Bank acting as financial mentor to the people,
succeeded in jarring stock exchange
values Thursday.At the same time, receiving sympathetically agents of the Bank of England, and discussing in a friendly spirit the establishment of a $200,- 000,000 fund for the British in America, our financial authorities comfort
our British brothers, greatly improving sterling exchange.NOW if British financial authorities will interest themselves in the welfare of American stockholders and speculators, everything will be gay.
But they won't.THE REV. MR. GATES, long business assistant of John D. Rockefeller, who died in Arizona, gave away many Rockefeller millions, and was influential in the foundation of the University of Chicago. He was president of 13 corporations controlled by Mr. Rockefeller, outside of the oil business, and always earnest in protecting Mr. Rockefeller's interests.THE late Judge Gary, who used long ago to borrow large sums of Rockefeller money through Mr. Gates for the steel company, said:"Gates would always begin by suggesting a loan smaller and interest rate higher than you wanted. In the end, he was always obliging."JUDGE GARY and the Rev. Mr.
Gates are doubtless conversing now in a realm where there is no borrowing, with or without interest. It must seem very strange, perhaps a little dull, to them.COMMERCE has its romantic spots.
Long Island police are rounding up a group of "weepers." These young women, impersonating Irish college girls, ring door bells and burst into tears, offering for sale a wonderful old Irish lace that belonged to their grandmothers. A wholesaler in Jamaica supplies the cheapest kind of machine-made lace.This is called the "weeping" method.

WHERE KING WILL RECUPERATE

"Craigwell House," the home of Sir Arthur Du Cros, near Bognor, a vilsevere illness. The castle is only a few steps from the beach, and it is hoped the sea air will benefit His Majesty.King George Cheered

George took up his new residence in Craigwell House on the Sussex coast, this afternoon for convalescence from his long illness.The king arrived in an ambulance from London at 1:24 o'clock. Queen Mary, who had arrived in a limousine
at 12:55, superintended the removal of the king from the ambulance to his quarters.It was understood that the king bore the journey from London well.The approaches to the estate were lined with bunting. Residents of neighboring villages gave a subdued cheer as the ambulance turned into the private roadway to the estate and school children waved union jacks.

Queen Goes in Limousine.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—King George left Buckingham Palace at 10:37 a. m. today in a huge specially built ambulance bound for Craigwell house, at Bognor, where he will complete his convalescence.His majesty waved his hand to a huge throng which had gathered outside the palace gates early in the morning to witness his departure.It was the first time he had been out of the palace in almost three months.The crowd about the palace had been warned to stand in absolute silence in order not to disturb the king.But the sight of their beloved monarch waving to them after having been so close to death was too much for those in the waiting throng and a tremendous cheer went up as the ambulance came through the main gate.Queen Mary followed in a limousine five minutes later.The ambulance was fitted with huge plate glass windows on both sides, permitting a partial view of its royal occupant.The crowd caught just a glimpse of his majesty's head but when he lifted

12 BELOW ZERO

Weatherman Predicts
Mercury Will Climb
Today.The midwest, southwest and Rocky mountain regions were in the grip of one of the most severe cold waves of the present season today with at least five dead and scores injured as a result of the wintry blasts.Four deaths occurred in Texas and condition from exposure.In addition to the known dead, scores were reported as in a serious condition from exposure.Kansas reported the coldest weather of the mid-west section with temperatures ranging from zero to twelve below. Cities and towns in the Rocky mountain region also reported sub-zero temperatures. The temperature in Missouri ranged from zero to three below.

Near Zero Tomorrow.

Evidence that the cold wave was general lies in the fact that along the Texas coast line, freezing temperatures were reported and much damage is expected to result.Indications are that the mercury will begin a slow climb today, however, near zero temperatures will prevail throughout tomorrow in the mid-west section, according to weather forecasts.

Chicago Suffers.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—One man was frozen to death and thousands sought shelter in police stations and municipal lodging houses here today as the tenth cold wave of the year struck Chicago. Colder weather was predicted for tonight.DES MOINES, Feb. 9.—Iowa, shivering under the coldest spell of the winter, was promised some relief today.A slight modification can be expected by Sunday," according to the weather bureau.Temperatures ranged down to 20
below zero.

At Des Moines it was 13 below.

DRY CHIEFTAIN

State Prohibition Commissioner
Rupert Beetham, formerly of Cadiz, will make a state-wide survey to bring about better enforcement of the dry laws, he announced last night dur-

HAILED MARTYR

Churches Filled as Prayers are Offered for Youth.MEXICO CITY, Feb. 9.—Jose De Leon Toral, young Mexican who is doomed to face a firing squad today
for the assassination of President-elect Alvaro Obregon, is hailed as a martyr
by devout members of the Catholic church all over Mexico.There were masses and prayers for Torol throughout the republic. The churches were filled with men and women who knelt in prayer. They asked that Torol be given fortitude to face death calmly. To them the young slayer's fate exemplified martyrdom, as he killed General Obregon in the belief that his death would "help solve the conflict between the church and the Mexican state."In the face of this unparalleled religious fervor, taking into consideration the psychology of the Mexican people, Jose Manuel Puig Casauranc, president of the federal district, ordered that a priest be allowed to accompany the condemned man to the execution ground.LINCOLN DAY PROGRAM SUNDAYLincoln day program will be given tomorrow morning in the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church, East End, in for 26 hours.

ket, St. Clair avenue.Another charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year old girl was filed against Hughes following his arrest. Judge Hanley continued the check charge while friends are making an effort to settle the ac-

Prison Farm Fugitive Captured.

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE,
O., Feb. 9.—James Mitchell, 36, Pike county, who escaped from the London prison farm 16 months ago, was in police custody here today, following his capture on a farm near here where he was found living with his wife and two children under the name of James Cartwright. Mitchell was serving a term for shooting with intent to kill when he escaped.CLOSE EXCHANGE, CURB MARKETNEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The New York Stock Exchange and the Curb Market are closed today. All commodity markets remain open as usual, and the banks and clearing house are also open for business.

Decision to close the stock exchange today was based on the prevalence of the flu epidemic among the Wall Street clerks and the heavy pressure of clerical work forced by the big markets of the last two weeks.Further Saturday closings may be ordered if business on the big board continues at the current high rate.Ohio Legislature Will Be Asked to Ban

Sale of Malt Syrup for "Home-Brewing"St. Clairsville Man
Puts it in Whisky,
Wine Class.ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Feb. 9.—A bill, which would make the sale and possession of malt syrup for "home-brew" purposes punishable by a fine, or imprisonment, or both, will be introduced in the Ohio legislature at Columbus Monday by Representative
Willard Piper, of Belmont county, according to that member of the lower house here today.The measure, Piper said, would make the sale of malt by stores in Ohio on par with the sale of whisky, wine and beer, as prohibited by the18th amendment and the various subsequent prohibition laws.First violation of the proposed law would carry with it a fine of not less than $50 or more than $500. A second offense would bring a fine of not less than $100 or more than $500, or imprisonment in the Ohio state penitentiary for from one to five years, or both.Provision is made, however, for the sale of malt to bakeries, candy factories and other legitimate businesses where the use of malt syrup is "necessary."

War On Malt Industry

It will be the duty of the state prohibition department to enforce the measure, if it becomes a law, Piper said.

The bill if made an Ohio law will be of far reaching magnitude, Piper claims, owing to the alleged malt combine which has been "flooding the state.""I will declare war on the malt industry," Piper continued, "at least one third of offenders arrested in Belmont county during the past two years, have been charged with possessing 'home brew' manufactured from malt syrup purchased at the corner grocery."

enforcement of the prohibition law, will be launched next week, Prohibition Commissioner Rupert R. Beetham, Cadiz, announced last night when he visited East Liverpool as the guest of the Kiwanis club.Declaring that the Ohio prohibition department has been formed to help in enforcement work where local police have failed, Beetham condemned the official "who takes the oath of office and then refuses to obey it, and, even at times, conspires to break the law.""The state prohibition department was organized to assist in those communities where local officials show laxity in their work," said Beetham. "We plan to offer the services of men who have experience in enforcing the law to every community of the state."Law enforcement, Beetham declared, was largely in the hands of local officials. "This department is ready to help in enforcement work where local officials fail after an honest effort," he said. "When officials refuse to carry out their oaths to enforce the law then it is the business of the state department to take charge. The law in such cases is very specific."

BEEHAM EULOGIZES MCGUFFEY;
RADIO MAN ALSO KIWANIS GUESTState Prohibition Commissioner
Rupert R. Beetham, of Cadiz, and H.
G. Smythe, Cleveland radio entertainer shared speaking honors at the dinner-dance of 100 members of the Kiwanis club and their guests in the Masonic temple, First street, Chester,
at 6:30 o'clock last night.Beetham eulogized William Mc-Guffey, of the McGuffey reader fame,
while Smythe talked what he introduced as "Keeping in Tune." He interested dozens of original jokes and stories and sung three solos.H. B. Keys president of the club, presided at the dinner. Vocal solos were given by Robert A. Douglass, Chester banker, with Claire Chambers as the accompanist. Russell C.
Hedderston, past district governor of Ohio Kiwanis presented Mrs. Keys with a bouquet of flowers, while Mrs.
Rupert R. Beetham and Mrs. Howard Coffland, who, with Mr. Coffland, accompanied Beetham from Cadiz to this city were presented with Hall
China company teapots.

Women Receive Gifts

Practically every woman who attended was presented with a prize.
Each woman also received a box of candy from the club and a bottle of perfume through the courtesy of Charles T. Larkins.E. E. Blair resident manager of the American and State theaters, was introduced as a new member. Blair was a member of the Kiwanis club at Cuyahoga Falls, before coming to East Liverpool.A dance, with the James Reese orchestra in charge of the music, followed Beetham's address. Smythe directed the dance until he was forced to leave shortly after 11 o'clock to make connections with a car forBeaver. Cards were also a diversion.

Smythe Urges Smile.

"We are all showmen," Smythe said in his talk. "When we get up in the morning we put on one mask;
when we go to our work we put on another. In fact, we have a different mask for every occasion.""A smile is a wonderful thing, Smile and the world smiles with you,
some one has said. Try to smile when you are feeling blue and see what a difference it makes.""The whole world is out of tune—
our homes, churches, business life—in fact, everything. You can't keep in tune without paying the price. To keep in tune we must get out of the practice of fault-finding overlooking the shortcomings of others, and smile. Many men and women are out of tune because they have forgotten God."

McGuffey "Put America Dry."

Beetham described McGuffey as
"the man who put America dry."
More than 100,000,000 of the McGuffey readers were printed and distributed during a period of 90 years, the speaker declared."McGuffey's stories were great on economy," said the speaker. "He stressed industry. His works were full of fellowship. He moulded the citizenship of the United States by the stories read by our forefathers
when they were children."His stories laid down the proper rules of conduct of children toward their elders. As a preacher he taught that the righteous would be taken care of and the wicked punished. For many years the McGuffey reader was the only book beside the Holy Bible and a dictionary in many homes."TWO MEMBERS OF COOPER CABINET ARE GUESTS OF HONOR IN CHESTERTwo members of Governor Myers' Y. Cooper's cabinet were guests of the Kiwanis club at last night's dinner-dance in the Chester Masonic temples.Will T. Blake, of East Liverpool, director of industrial relations, was present to greet Prohibition Commissioner Rupert R. Beetham, who made an address."It seems as if many of the former speakers of the house of representatives are a part of the government at the moment," Mr. Beetham was told."Yes," he smiled as the statement reminded him that in his own library back in Cadiz, which is a part of the Eighteenth congressional district, is the black gavel presented by the Ohio legislature of a few years back as a memento of his own presiding over that body as speaker.

Lists Former Speakers.

"Then there is former Speaker
Silver, who managed the state campaign last fall and who also is in the governor's cabinet.""There is also Hal Griswold, another Ohio speaker, who is the director of public institutions."It was also noted that Roscoe Mc-Gulough, of Canton, former congressman, has become a member of the public utilities commission."Gov. Cooper is an able man than many people surmise," said Beetham in discussing him. "He has strong viewpoints on the questions coming up

Valentines Given New Significance

Public School Students to Send Them as Before But There'll be Money in Them This Time for Near East Children.

WELLSVILLE, O., Feb. 9.—Practicality, tinted with just enough romance to relieve the drabness, will mark the annual observance of St. Valentine's day in the public school system of the city.

"To my Valentine" will be the message, as it always has been on the February 14 program but the significance, says Superintendent S. E. Daw, will far outweigh that of former years.

For students of all grades will dedicate their heart interest for the day, their valentines and cash donation to children of the Near East as part of a state-wide movement to procure funds for clothing and food.

Envelopes, appropriately heart shaped and conveying the valentine spirit, will be distributed among the students and each, in this way, will have an opportunity to contribute whatever he wishes to the fund.

The valentine donations will then be sent to J. L. Crisbor, Columbus, state director of education, and, subsequently converted into food and clothing.

"Seventeen cents a day will save a life" is the slogan.

HIGH PASSERS GO TO SALEM

Boys' and Girls' Team To Play Quakers Tonight.

Losing to the East Liverpool high school squad here last night by a score of 38 to 9, Wellsville school cagers will tackle another difficult assignment tonight when they go to Salem for a return engagement with the Quakers.

The north county combine nosed out the Tigers here several weeks ago when the locals were in top form. Having lost several regulars, the Tiger quint will be handicapped not only for tonight's tilt but for remaining encounters of the season.

The Wellsville girls won from Salem girls in their first meeting here, but they, too, like the boys, have lost several stars and without them will be materially weakened.

MRS. McINTOSH CLUB HOSTESS

Mrs. C. W. McIntosh received members of the Smith's Ferry Shady Rest club in the home of her mother, Mrs. D. T. Gilmore, Clark avenue, Wellsville, Thursday night, when music and games were the diversions. Mrs. Frank McCoy received the honors in the guessing contest.

A vocal duet was given by Mesdames Eleanor Mason and Georgia Quinn, after which a short business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Anna McKinnon. At this time Mrs. Helen Camp was elected treasurer of the club.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. William Gill, covers being arranged for 10 guests.

Next Thursday Mrs. Howard McCoy of Ohio avenue, Midland, will receive the club.

The first contest had as entrants the "old folks" who had studied from McGuffey's reader and the second contest was staged as an "open" event. The Rev. Mr. Middleton outspelled the field in both events.

Among those who took part in the McGuffey contest were George Crooks, Charles Maple, Mrs. George Close, Miss Emma Boyles, Sarah Redding, Laura E. Stokely, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Gall, Chalisa Lawrence, Arthur Crooks, Mrs. Ida Elliott, Mrs. John Boyles, Mrs. Kathryn Crooks, McKinley Crook, Alma Lawrence, Rev. Mr. Middleton and Mrs. McMaster of East Springfield, Ohio.

Plan New Dormitory At Bethany College

Bids for Women's Building Will be Sought Early in March, Dr. Goodnight Says.

CHESTER, W. Va., Feb. 9.—Plans for the proposed women's dormitory at Bethany college were approved at a recent meeting of the trustees of the institution, according to an announcement made today by President Dr. Cloyd Goodnight.

Members of the committee are: T. W. Phillips, Jr., Butler, Pa.; W. J. Harbster, Pittsburgh; W. W. Van Horn, Shelby, O.; Samuel George, Wellsburg; S. J. Reno, Jr., Pittsburgh, and W. S. Wilkin, Wellsburg. Dr. Goodnight is chairman of the committee.

The architect has been urged to make all possible haste in his preparations so that the committee may advertise for bids early in March. Construction will be started as soon as the contract is let. It is hoped that at least part of the new building will be ready for occupancy at the opening of the next college year.

It was voted by the board to continue a college office in Pittsburgh where the general promotional man will soon be put in the field. These items have been left entirely in the hands of Dr. Goodnight.

The budget for the ensuing year which was recommended by Dr. Goodnight was approved. The president's recommendation as to members of the faculty was referred to the faculty committee which will meet sometime this month. His recommendation as to improvements on the college campus was referred to the committee on buildings and grounds.

CLOSE REVIVAL IN NAZARENE CHURCH SUNDAY

Evangelist J. H. Huff Given Night of Rest.

54 CONVERTED

Answers Query, "Who Is Biggest Fool in City?"

Who sets up his own individual standard against that given mankind by God as His own is the most foolish person in any community, averred the Rev. J. H. Huff, Illinois evangelist, at the Nazarene church revival in Chester, last night as he answered his announced query, "Who is the biggest fool in the city?"

Six conversions followed the sermon, making the total of the meeting by now 54.

He used as a text, Proverbs 16:2—"Always a man is clean in his own eyes, but God welleth the spirit."

For the first time during the campaign the Rev. Mr. Huff will rest from his labors tonight.

On Sunday he will conclude the present revival by speaking three times. In the morning his subject will be "The Blessings of Obedience," the afternoon theme, "God's Identification Mark," and that of the evening, "The Missing Man."

The juniors of the congregation assisted in the preliminary service last night by singing twice, directed by R. T. Eby, who himself sang "The Grumblers" as a solo, accompanied by Miss Olive Huff.

Various standards of men were noted by the evangelist which he alleged were made by themselves and in many instances were low, particularly those of the home at the present time.

"But God has his own standard. This includes the putting of God first in every life and the practicing of the Golden Rule in all the activities of life."

Edwin Denby's Death

The nation joins with Michigan, his adopted state, and Indiana, where he was born, in mourning today the death of Edwin Denby, Spanish-American and World War veteran, lawyer, former congressman and later secretary of the navy in the cabinet of the late President Harding, who succumbed to a heart attack in his home city of Detroit yesterday.

The esteem in which he was held in Michigan is best expressed by Detroit's mayor, John C. Lodge, who said, "I believe Ned Denby had more real friends, using 'real' in its best sense, than any other man in Michigan."

And speaking for his countrymen, President Coolidge said of the former cabinet member, "His life was an outstanding example of good citizenship, and he displayed qualities of heart and mind which endeared him to all his associates."

Edwin Denby served his home city, his state and his country in peace and war, as the nation's chieftain said in paying tribute to him. And he won his high place in the hearts of his fellow citizens by the integrity and zeal that marked his efforts in private or public endeavors.

Proposed Church Merger

While it is yet some distance away from an actual announcement has been made that there is a definite agreement for the uniting of the Presbyterian church in the United States and the Methodist Episcopal Church of America, a merger which will mean a membership of 6,000,000. The announcement comes from Pittsburgh, where representatives of the two big church organizations have been in session. Moreover, it is anticipated that a plan will soon be devised and adopted which will open the way for the alliance of other denominations with the two bodies to be merged.

"Our beliefs, our doctrines, in fact everything about the two denominations are so similar," said the Rev. Eugene M. Arntm, of Oklahoma City, secretary of the joint committee, in making the announcement, "that union is almost inevitable."

And why not? The weakness of the Protestant church is in its many divisions. Why should not all of them combine into one great church? In its solidarity, if that term may be permitted, lies much of the strength and influence of the Roman Catholic church. Why should not the Protestant churches be likewise organized into one great body?

There is never great accession of power without its attendant risk. In this case, the risk would be predicated upon the possible misuse of the power of such an organization, the possibility that its power might be unwisely used for secular advantage, but if its energies were devoted wholly to the glory of God and the advancement of the Christian faith, its accomplishments for good would be inestimable.

Let's Bare Facts

Where there is so much smoke there must be some fire, and if it is a fact the few thousand Indians remaining in the United States are subjected to tyrannical slavery, then it is about time the public calls a halt.

Vera L. Connolly writes in Good Housekeeping, a periodical, of her personal observations at Indian reservations of the west—describes in horrible detail the stories of cruelty, starvation, mistreatment, disease and worse, she heard and learned, while making a searching investigation into this slavery matter for her editor.

And everything Miss Connolly saw is substantiated in the Survey of New York, and reproduced in The Literary Digest, by John Collier, secretary of the Indian Defense association, who describes the starvation—even to death—of aged Indians and Indian children.

The stories by Miss Connolly and Mr. Collier are replete with instances of the most inhuman treatment of Indian children in Indian boarding schools; of Indian property dissipated by the Indian bureau of the federal government; of Indian wealth snatched from its owners by this bureau; of Indians imprisoned, without recourse to any lawful tribunal, for some infraction of the bureau's regulations; of Indian girls chained to their beds, whipped and permitted to die of white men's diseases—all this and more that is so horrible as to be shocking to even the most case hardened campaigner.

And all Commissioner Burke of the Indian bureau has to say for himself is that he believes the facts have been distorted. If the indictment of Burke and his regency holds water, then the public is party to one of the most horrible recurrences of medieval coercion and brutality ever recorded.

In fairness to the Indian bureau it will be admitted that an investigation is under way.

For their heroic deeds in the World War the American Indians were nationalized and became citizens, yet it is declared that under the Indian bureau's regime they may not leave the reservations, may not buy or sell property, may not exercise any of the prerogatives of citizenship—not even on a par with the unlettered foreigner six months in America who has merely declared his intention of becoming a citizen.

Senators LaFollette, Thomas, Frazier, Pine and Wheeler constitute a senatorial inquisitorial body which ostensibly has for its objective a sifting of the opprobrium which has been heaped on Burke and his office.

If it is learned the picture of the Indian's lot has been painted with an untruthful brush around unsupported facts, no harm should befall the Indian bureau or its chiefs or workers. At any rate, the facts must be bare.

If all press reports are correct, Leon Trotsky, former Bolshevik leader, is on his way to the "Port of Missing Men."

February henceforth probably will be known as the month of aerial achievements as well as the period in which Washington and Lincoln were born.

The government pension bureau insists that a citizen of Iowa must prove that he is alive or lose his Civil War pension. To prove that they are alive from the neck up might prove a real job for some people.

The spring clean-up campaign is just around the corner.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 9.—Men are always impelled to write of the things they do, no matter how exciting or how dull. Although aviation is only twenty-five years old, a voluminous literature already has sprung up concerning it. Scores of novels have been written on the theme of flying, short fiction stories abound in adventures of the air, and a goodly quantity of verse has been produced.

The American government is not concerned with this branch of the literature of aviation but has been sufficiently interested in the fact literature for the aeronautics branch of the department of commerce to compile an elaborate bibliography of the books which have been written about flying. The department has just completed aeronautics bulletin No. 6 with the following explanation:

"The department is constantly in receipt of requests for references on aeronautical subjects. The following list of books and other publications has been compiled to answer these inquiries. It is not to be considered as complete on account of the rapidly increasing number of publications on aeronautics. The department will be glad to receive suggestions and recommendations in regard to additions to this list."

The bulletin is divided under various subject headings for convenience. The most interesting heading is Adventures and War and under it are listed books and publications telling the stories of flights and exploits in the air which are as absorbing as any fiction tales. The best known book under this heading doubtless is We, the book which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh wrote about his epoch-making trans-Atlantic flight to Paris. Then there is Commander Richard E. Byrd's book, Skyward, and also the book, First Crossing of the Polar Sea, written by Donald Amundsen and Lincoln Ellsworth, the famous explorers. Record flights is a book by Clarence D. Chamberlain, who flew to Germany and Amelia Earhart, the first woman to fly the Atlantic, is represented in the list by her book entitled Twenty Hours, Forty Minutes; Our Flight in the Friendship. Several other such stories of flights of exploration, record flights, and the like also are included.

Fact stories like the form of narrations and reminiscences of exploits during the World War come under the general heading. The German air raids on Great Britain is a book by Morris while Guyonmer, the Ace of Aces by Jacques Montane tells of the French hero's record in the air. Edward Rickenbacker, the American ace, is represented in the list by his book, Fighting the Flying Circus. The flying circus, it will be recalled, was the air squadron commanded by the noted German ace, the Baron Richthofen. The story from the German viewpoint is told in The Red Battle Flyer by Manfred Richthofen. The Red Knight of Germany by Floyd Gibbons also treats of the achievements of Baron Richthofen.

The exploits of the Lafayette Escadrille, that flying outfit attached to the French army which many Americans joined before the United States entered the war, are told in The Story of the Lafayette Escadrille by George Hienault. Two important books which add many important comments to the straight narrative are Our Air Force and Winged Defense both by Gen. William Mitchell, formerly assistant chief of the United States air service.

In the classification headed Historical are listed a number of books on the history of flying, most of them recent; although one, Aerial Navigation by Frederick Walker, was published in 1902 before the Wrights flew. Of course there had been considerable balloon flying before that time. Also the Smithsonian Institution is represented in the list with a Bibliograph of Aeronautics tracing the history of air navigation from the earliest times down to 1909. Prof. Langley, who was secretary of the institution, was experimenting with the airplane at the same time as the Wrights.

It is interesting to note that a number of books have already been written on the legal aspects of aeronautics. These relate to ordinary civil and commercial law and also to rules of war affecting aircraft. There is a classification devoted to the medical aspects of flying, treating of high speed flight, high altitudes, etc., on the aviation.

Other classifications which are self-explanatory are Meteorology, Model Airplanes, Performance Calculations, Photography, Propellers, Transport, and Yearbooks.

Ritzzy Rosalie

There's nothing like a snowstorm to test cosmetics and so Rosalie is braving a baby blizzard just to find out if the new eyelash dye does everything it promises on the box. It is supposed to last until a new growth comes in and that's a lot to expect of an eye-lash dye since eyelashes seem to grow so slowly. If the dye doesn't live up to her expectations, Rosalie may resort to some of the new artificial eyelashes that are made especially for street wear. These "curtains" for the "windows of the soul" are easily applied and are supposed to "stay stuck." Thinking of such artifices brings to mind the new face lifters which Rosalie has, as yet, no need. They are worn beneath the hair and lift sagging lines almost like a surgical lift.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Impressions: The reverberating boom of Big Ben... Royal tombs at Westminster and the gravity of St. Paul's... Polon faces at tiny barred windows of prison vans... Ancient steps worn paper thin... Spats from pushcarts... Old Bailey... And the perpetual blend of pomp and poverty.

Flirtatious ladies in Oxford Circus... Bronze lions in Trafalgar... Red-coated guards in high fur hats who stand so immobile at Whitehall... The glove, hat, boot and shirt makers to H. R. H... Negroes with monocles... Old Drury Lane... Roaming street singers... The early morning canter along Rotten Row.

The noonday rush of clerks to place their racing bets... The discontents orating on portable platforms at a Hyde Park entrance... First, second and third class sections of the pubs... Doughty old clubmen nursing their gout in windows of Grosvenor Square... Scotland Yard.

Scottish cafes featuring haggis... Meat pudding at Cheshire Cheese... The snow-haired lift man at the Savoy... Tasteless coffee... Snippy waitresses... The dinkiness of the famous London Bridge... And did you know how to administer the exact draughts or the cheese curls up and becomes crumbly. The connoisseurs seemed enraptured and babbled ecstatically of its "fruitiness" and "tawny tang." I suppose it was marvelous but my cheese taste is dormant. It has never progressed beyond the rat trap stage.

There is a bit of magic, a quality of fantasy, that glamour a London night. Not even that gay whirling microcosm we call Broadway surpasses it. By day London is depressingly drab but by night it has a polish. Every motor car blazes with light. Piquant faces nestle in furry cloaks. The men are marvelously groomed, self satisfied, boutonniere. It is only at night one becomes conscious this for leagured city is not only buoyant but—and I hate to term, too—smart.

The longer I remain in London the more I learn for one of those owl eyed butlers, named Miles or such, who is always crossing the room with a decanter on a silver tray.

Other Editors Say

The Last of Laddie Boy.

Laddie Boy is dead. Apparently proud of being called the "first dog of the land," Laddie Boy romped through the two and a half years of the Harding administration.

Laddie Boy is the last of the entourage of the White House during the historic years from March of 1921 to the fall of 1923. Gone is his master, a gracious personage to whom justice will be done by a day that will appropriate the praise that is his due. Gone is his mistress who hospitably presided as chaperone of the White House. Gone are Dr. Sawyer, the president's personal physician who seemed never to become acclimated to official atmosphere, and others who are a rather remote memory.

When the history of the Harding administration is written doubtless the story of Laddie will loom large, as it should. But the historian will also put proper emphasis on the fact that Harding lifted Charles E. Hughes from the limbo of defeated presidential candidates and gave him the opportunities which he magnificently accepted as secretary of state, and by making Herbert Hoover secretary of commerce helped to mold the destiny of the president-elect. — Cincinnati Times-Star.

Once Overs

By J. J. Mundy.

Don't Wait for the Right Time. If you are waiting for a time when everything will be just right to start some undertaking you will never get at it.

Too many persons excuse themselves for neglect of things they know they ought to do by putting off the starting point with a flimsy excuse that things are not yet "just right."

Too many class themselves as artists, so they think, when they say, they cannot paint until the spirit moves them.

Quite an acceptable coat to put on, when they don't want to do or finish a certain thing at a given time.

You have in mind something that would add appreciably to your income.

You delay in starting because your present income carries you along pretty well and you are not in the right frame of mind to start something.

It might be years before you would feel the need of the money that might be yours if you would get to work.

But in the meantime the demand might cease and you could not do it. It is the spirit of putting off the start that hampers growth.

Make the most of opportunity while it is yet opportunity.

Give to the public what it wants at the time it is wanted.

Later the demand may be for something else.

12-YEAR-OLD GIRL PREACHES HERE TONIGHT

Free Methodists to Hear Sarah Road, Wellsville.

SPECIAL SERVICE

Two Sermons Sunday in Avondale Street Church.

Things that are obstacles to soul-winning were discussed in detail by the Rev. S. E. West, pastor, at the revival in the Free Methodist church, Avondale street, last night. For the third time during the present series of meetings he used the words from Proverbs as his text: "He that winneth souls is wise."

"Young People's Night" will be celebrated tonight. A distinctive feature will be a sermon by a 12-year-old girl from Wellsville. She is Sarah Road, of 417 Sixteenth street, who recently removed there from the rural zone.

Tomorrow the Rev. Mr. West will preach twice. In the morning his theme will be "Qualifications for Soul Winning" and that of the evening, "The Honors of Soul Winning."

Three persons following last night's discourse went forward as "seekers" to the altar.

Cites Dangers to Soul.
Indifference, unbelief, delay, habits of sin, the love of sin and despair were given by the Rev. Mr. West as a sextet of reasons preventing soul-winning in his sermon. "And these touch every one who does not engage in this expected work of the Christian," he declared. "One or all of them in some instances are preventives to that which is expected in bringing about the kingdom of God on the earth."

"Indifference rather than infidelity in most instances cause a preponderance of failure in this respect. People do not care enough about religion to really oppose it. They have no thought of God. They care nothing for His services. To overcome such spiritual lethargy in soul-winning there is manifestly the need for more zeal in that direction on the part of those holding themselves to be the followers of the Nazarene."

"Unbelief abounds as in the days of Jesus when it was said that 'He did not do his mighty works because of unbelief.' It is incumbent to have belief before regeneration can be had in the soul."

"Some men and women prefer to have their individual opinion rather than the scriptural viewpoint. They hold their own ideas more weighty than that of God himself. Hence unbelief abounds."

"Many delay coming to God. This obstacle is serious in that it keeps more people away from Him than any other. Those who seek souls likewise delay. There is a need for more earnestness on the part of those who should carry on the kingdom."

Habits of Sin Handicap.
"Then the habits of sin handicap in that they have become fixed and difficult to change."

SCENE FROM THE MUSICAL ROMANCE "MY MARYLAND"

At the Ceramic theater Thursday, February 14.

fulcrum of undergoing change. Such conform naturally to the world and in easy fashion go along with no effort to do that which would contribute to the salvation of others about them.

"The love of sin also carries many many and prevents their doing ought for those in a wrong attitude to God. Jesus put his attention on sin by declaring that there are some who love darkness more than light. Those openly immoral and dishonest are hard to reach and even more difficult to get into a stage in which ultimately they may become soul winners."

"And finally there are those who are in utter despair. They have no hope. The devil has them in such power that it is difficult to touch them. These reasons loom as powerful handicaps to soul-winning. They needs must be met. The gospel, despite their strength, is stronger when used. It will in turn overcome all these handicaps. But it must be used."

TEST CHRYSLERS IN COLD ROOM

Science is contributing more and more to the modern motor car. Manufacturers' efforts constantly to build cars which will give finer performance, even at the widest extremes of temperature, have opened wide the portals for research, inventiveness and ingenuity to step in and lend every assistance at their command.

Chrysler is one company whose progressive policies have afforded science its opportunity to assist in making motor cars constantly less susceptible to the changing elements. In its new engineering laboratories, Chrysler has a department where nearly every motor car unit and virtually every product consumed in motor car operation can be tested and carefully studied for its abilities down to temperatures far below zero.

In its cold room, the operation of entire cars has been studied at temperatures which have reached as low as 36 degrees below zero, with experts checking and apparatus recording every possible detail of operation. The lubricating ability and viscosity of various oils; definite knowledge concerning antifreeze solutions; capabilities of batteries, generators, starting and lighting systems; carburetor action and efficiency—all these and other abilities of the various engine parts under extreme conditions are carefully checked, recorded and passed on to the proper executives for further analysis and action.

SHERIFF WILLIAM J. BARLOW OPENS DRIVE AGAINST "ONE-EYED" AUTOS

County Authorities Will Patrol Highways to Enforce Law Regarding Headlights.

LISBON, O., Feb. 9.—A campaign was launched last night by Sheriff William J. Barlow and Deputy Sheriffs George Harroff and Gomer Lewis against the driving of automobiles at night showing only one headlight or without rear lights.

"Operating an automobile with but one headlight and no tail light is a dangerous practice, and is a direct violation of the automobile laws," Sheriff Barlow said. "The laws are put on the books to be enforced, and we are going to enforce them. This is a public safety measure."

"Entirely too many cars have been observed on the roads of late with no tail lights and only one headlight. There is no excuse for the situation."

"We have begun to patrol the highways, and will continue to do so. While we want to be fair with the motoring public, we must also be fair with those who observe the laws while driving at night."

To Open Fire on Mobs.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Widespread burglary and looting broke out in the business district of Bombay in the wake of six days' rioting in which 110 persons were reported killed, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Bombay this afternoon. The dispatch said that curfew regulations have been proclaimed to curb the looting.

The rioting late this afternoon took the most serious aspect it has assumed since the trouble began, the Central News correspondent said. Mohammedan fanatics ran amuck through the streets, stabbing Hindus and firing indiscriminately into the houses.

The troops were twice compelled to fire on the mobs when the latter disregarded orders to disperse.

Large numbers of killings, knifings and floggings were reported from every section of the city.

The city police committee sent a deputation to the governor, urging him to disarm the populace and close the saloons. The city magistrates have forbidden the assembly of more than five persons in any one group.

FLY WHEEL HITS SPRINGFIELD BOY

SPRINGFIELD, O., Feb. 9.—Lawrence Teets, 12, struck down by a part of a fly wheel which left its axle while revolving at a high rate of speed in the French and Hecht Manufacturing plant here last night, was reported near death today in a hospital. Teets, taking his father's dinner to him at the plant, was walking with three companions and was about 300 yards from the plant when struck. The other boys suffered minor injuries.

The wheel was carried across the plant, careened from the wall and ripped the roof off the plant, causing part of it to collapse. Pieces of the wheel were found three blocks away.

BARBERTON BOY KILLED BY TRAIN

AKRON, Feb. 9.—Funeral services were being arranged today for Herbert Minks, 7, of Barberton, who was killed when hit by a train last night. The boy was walking along the tracks, near his home, with several companions when he was struck by a fast Erie express. The body was badly mangled.

Cincinnati Banker Dies.

KELLOGG QUILTS CAPITAL MAR. 4

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—One member of the Coolidge cabinet who knows he isn't going to stay, and who is going to lose no time in leaving Washington after the inauguration is Secretary of State Kellogg.

He told callers today that he would leave the capital on March 4 or 5. He probably will go south for a vacation.

ONE DEAD, FOUR HURT IN WRECK

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 9.—One man was killed and four were injured in a train crash in the Central Union yards here last night.

Railroad officials today began an investigation. Lee Gatman, 35, Covington, Ky., a yard conductor, was scalded to death when he was trapped in the cab of an engine.

The wreck occurred when a Baltimore and Ohio train backed into the end of a Louisville and Nashville locomotive.

Force of the impact caused the steam pipes to burst.

Those injured were William Hearn, Latonia, Ky., R. L. Dagherty, Covington, Ky., and John Edgar and John Maltaney, both of Cincinnati.

CONVICT FOUR IN LIQUOR PLOT

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Alderman Titus Haffa and four co-defendants accused of conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition law, were found guilty here today in federal court.

Sees Improved Situation.
"The bootlegger is despised but I have more respect for the man who sells liquor than I have for the man who is entrusted with the enforcement of the law and who either refuses to enforce it or conspires to violate it. I would rather catch one such official than I would a hundred bootleggers for I feel that I would be rendering my country a better service."

Beetham declared that while prohibition is not observed or enforced as it should be, yet conditions "at their worst" are better than the days of the open saloon.

Calls for Police Co-operation.
"I attended the Republican national convention at Kansas City last June and I failed to see an intoxicated man," he said. "The same conditions prevailed at the inauguration of Governor Cooper at Columbus recently."

"It's up to the dry people to see that the law is enforced. The first man to know of a speakeasy in your district is the policeman. When an official asks you to sign an affidavit to raid a place which is suspected of bootlegging, it is because he's afraid to do his duty."

BROKERS HINT MARGIN BOOST

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Wall Street, with the stock and curb exchanges closed, discussed today the likelihood of a general advance of margin requirements by brokerage firms, averaging about 25 per cent. The abrupt wiping out of shaky margin accounts by the recent sharp decline, causing severe losses for the little fellow in the street, was held largely responsible for the change.

Meanwhile another movement was afoot to adopt a uniform minimum commission charge. One prominent house already has fixed a minimum charge of $5 per item, and others are expected to follow shortly. This change is taking something of a country-wide aspect, brokers in Chicago, Cleveland and Philadelphia recently having held meetings on the subject.

62 MIDSHIPMEN FORCED TO QUIT

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 9.—Failure to maintain the high scholastic standard of the naval academy has brought grief to 62 midshipmen, one a first class man.

This number will be required to resign and 71 others who were delinquent to a lesser degree will be allowed re-examination.

Despite the large number who must give up their naval careers, the percentage of failures is smaller than at any time in the last five years, Lieut. Commander H. G. Patrick said, Rear Admiral S. S. Robison, superintendent, announced in making public the list.

the members of the administration are to accompany him.

With Ohio speakers having such a powerful part in the present state administration the additional noteworthy situation of Ohio at the moment having two native sons doing similar work in the nation's capital stands out.

Gov. Cooper is from Speaker Nicholas Longworth's home town, Cincinnati. And Vice President Charles Dawes was born in Marietta, where many of his relatives yet live.

Industrial Director Blake speaks equally strong of the ability of Gov. Cooper.

When not on duty in his office he has found time in his brief stay so far in Columbus of hearing former East Liverpool pastors, the Rev. Frank Fowler and the Rev. Harry Cotton, preach.

Hears Mercer, Casey Lauded.

Incidentally at some Y. M. C. A. banquet he has brushed up his baseball knowledge by hearing Manager Southworth, who is to boss the St. Louis Cardinals this season and the famed Catcher Hank Gowdy speak.

Both are Columbus residents, have been managers and played on championship clubs. Southworth was with the Pittsburgh Pirates before he was transferred to Boston thence to New York and St. Louis and finally last year to pilot the winning Rochester team of the International League.

Mr. Blake described Manager Southworth as a wonderful speaker, one who unhesitatingly goes into detail regarding inside base ball plays and the work necessary to get players into condition for the season's work.

Both directors are rapidly getting familiar with the duties devolving upon them and particularly acquiring an acquaintanceship with their colleagues in the governor's cabinet.

Mr. Beetham, accompanied by Mrs. Beetham, returned to Cadiz late last night. He had some work demanding his attention at home today. Both he and Mrs. Blake will be in their Columbus offices on Monday morning.

Manus McFadden, of Downings, Ireland, died recently at the age of 105.

G. B. SHAW'S new play, called "The Apple Cart," describes political conditions 100 years hence. If Mr. Shaw could live a hundred years, two things would surprise him. First he would see a political condition of which he never dreamed, based on industrial and scientific achievement and greatly increased wealth.

Second, he would find a world in which the names of George Bernard Shaw and Rudyard Kipling would be as much out of fashion as Bouguereau's paintings are now.

WINTHROP W. ALDRICH, of the John D. Rockefeller, Jr. proxy committee, says the Rockefeller side now has 51 per cent of the stock of the Standard Oil of Indiana and will defeat Col. Stewart in the approaching meeting.

Col. Stewart's friends deny it. They say that the stockholders will retain Col. Stewart, under whose management their company has increased in value from $170,000,000 to more than a billion dollars.

Meanwhile fewer than 100,000 British troops in India, largely natives, continue rulling 300,000,000 Mohammedans and Hindus that don't know enough to drop their religious warfare.

THE so-called Spanish influenza born of the war, continues to remind the world that war is never profitable. In France one in five has influenza. In Prague burials are a week behind schedule. Churches hold burial services every 15 minutes, and there is a shortage of priests and grave diggers. All schools are closed.

KING GIVES BLOOD FOR INJURED MAN

MARIETTA, O., Feb. 9.—William Lantz gave more than a quart of his blood today in an effort to save the life of his brother, Elmer, father of four children, who was injured in an oil field accident near lower Salem, Washington county, yesterday.

His left leg severed when a wire line used in pulling pipe "flipped," Lantz was near death from loss of blood when brought to a hospital here. He is believed by hospital attendants, to have a chance to live.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 9.—Had Mr. P. Connor, Kansas City's weather forecaster, been at large on the streets this morning, the chances are he would have been stoned, mobbed or suffered some similar fate. For, to him, is accredited the statement today that "spring is only twenty days away."

Kansas Citizens shivered, stomped and swore as the temperature hovered a niche or two below the zero mark. To make matters worse, little relief has been promised for today, and the author of the cantankerous statement concerning spring, does not promise relief before tomorrow.

The cold spell, said to be coldest of the season, is extensive in the Missouri valley. Thus far, no deaths have been reported from freezing in the outlying districts.

He was at one time associated with R. W. Hosier in the meat packing business at Circleville. His widow, two sons, two daughters and six grand children survive.

Asks Malt Syrup Ban

target for prohibition raiders during the last five years, why should the malt combine be allowed to create all this disturbance by a legal sale of their product?"

"Bill illegal," Says Johnson.
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 9.—"As I understand the bill, it is illegal and without foundation."

This was the comment today of O. W. Johnson, head of the Moderation League of Ohio, when informed that Representative Willard Piper of St. Clairsville, would introduce a bill in the Ohio legislature prohibiting the sale and possession of malt for "home brew" purposes.

Johnson declared the bill was too broad in its scope. He said the government can't stop the sale of malt, inasmuch as it has tried to and failed. A person cannot be arrested for possession of malt, the moderation leader continued.

He pointed out that it would be unfair and unconstitutional to allow the sales and possession of malt to businesses and not to the individual.

Claims Cannot Stop Sale.

When asked if the conspiracy clause of the prohibition law would cover the possession of malt for beverages, he said that they first would have to prove that the malt was intended for illegal purposes. But the government cannot prohibit the sale of a product just because it is susceptible to misuse, he stated. If it could, Johnson said, it could also prohibit the sale of corn, potatoes and many other articles that are now used in the making of liquor and wine.

The Moderation League, Johnson concluded, stands for the enforcement of Ohio laws, but it believes in the repeal of such laws that are "objectionable and unreasonable."

Bender Would Regulate Sugar Sale.
CLEVELAND, Feb. 9.—"We may as well make a good job of it," observed State Senator George H. Bender at his home here today when informed that Representative Piper, of St. Clairsville, expected to introduce a bill in the Ohio legislature to prevent the sale of malt syrup.

"When Representative Piper introduces his bill Monday, I'll offer an amendment to regulate the sale of sugar, the growing of beets, wheat, corn, and the sale of certain of their products. Representative Piper has forgotten some other things. We must prohibit the sale of lead pipe and washbubs because people might use them to make stills."

"Let's not stop here. We've got to clean up Ohio's morals. Why not a law to make skirts longer or else to compel men to wear blinders in public places? I think my amendment will also include a provision that all stores shall close for three hours at noon."

"Some of our legislators these days are trying to regulate everything and everybody. The American people, who once prided themselves on their personal liberty, ought to protest."

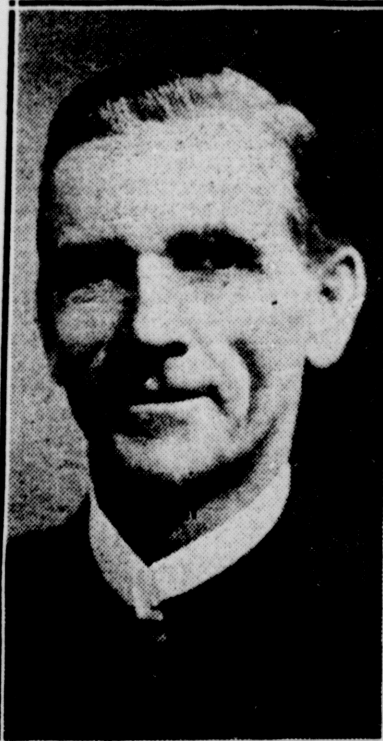

Senator Bender, who is president of the Constitutional Law Enforcement League of Ohio, said his ironical remarks were not intended as a reflection on the liquor laws, pointing out that he has long been an advocate of prohibition. He also said that a malt syrup law would not affect him personally since the chain of stores which he operates here do not handle malt.

"Untenable," Says U. S. Attorney
CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 9.—"A state law to prohibit the sale of malt syrup is untenable."

John Osmun assistant U. S. district attorney in charge of liquor law prosecutions, expressed this opinion today when advised that Representative Piper, of St. Clairsville, expected to introduce such a bill before the Ohio general assembly.

He further pointed out that in his opinion the Volstead act "in spirit," does not prohibit the manufacture and consumption of mild intoxicants in private homes, provided there is no sale.

PLANS REVIVAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—A general study of the radio industry has been launched by the department of justice, it was announced today.

Attorney General Sargent directed the inquiry to determine whether steps should be taken by the government as protective measures against alleged monopoly and restraint of trade.

Action was taken after the federal trade commission turned over the records of its exhaustive investigation of the so-called "radio trust" to the department. The commission's investigation was terminated without suit being filed against the radio corporations.

Among the companies involved in the federal trade investigation were the Radio Corporation of America, the American Telephone and Telegraph company, Westinghouse, General Electric, Western Electric, United Fruit, Tropical Radio, Wireless Specialties and others.

N. B. O. P. STATEMENT ON STRIKE AT NEW CASTLE, PA.

The following is the second installment of the statement of President James M. Duffy of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters on the situation in the strike at the Shenango China company's plant in New Castle, Pa.

(4.) This dispute was in regard to one-fire dipping. When the Shenango first started one-fire dipping, they employed several of their regular dippers who were then employed at the plant to do this work. One morning the firm placed five young women on dipping one-fire ware. We requested of them that they give the preference to qualified journeyman dippers to do this work. This caused Smith to tell us in no uncertain terms that he would never give this work to regular dippers; he mentioned the fact that the Hall China Company, at the beginning of their manufacturing of this class or kind of product, established the precedent by employing unskilled people to do this dipping. He further stated that there was no provision in our agreement saying that they were compelled to employ regular dippers in this work and went on in great elaboration of the fact of the precedent as established by Hall China in having unskilled people do this work that they also should be favored in like manner and that, since it was customary to follow such precedents as established by other firms in the absence of any specific understanding in our agreement covering this work, it would not be fair to withhold from the Shenango that which had already been conceded to the Hall China, in a word, that we should treat them all alike. The Brotherhood officials accepted the above contentions of the Shenango and dropped the matter, and thus permitted the Shenango to continue the employment of unskilled people in one-fire dipping, the Shenango in this instance being favored in this concession by reason of the established custom for this kind of work. In this instance, I would have you note that Smith was quite willing to follow custom and precedent when it was advantageous to him, but let me call your attention also to his absolute refusal to follow custom and precedent in the matter of paying to the warehousemen wages provided for in our agreement and also as to what the other china ware manufacturers were paying for warehousemen's work. Quite a contrast, to say the least!

(5.) In regard to our apprentice law, which is that no apprentice can be started at any trade as long as a competent journeyman is available. Mr. Smith phoned in and asked for a journeyman. I informed him that we had a very competent man for the job but that he would be unable to report for about four days. Smith objected to waiting and again in anger reminded me that the agreement says that they should be furnished with a man within twenty-four hours or they have a right to put on an apprentice. I tried to explain to Mr. Smith that while he was correct as regards what the agreement says in this matter, there was an understanding between the manufacturers and the Brotherhood of quite long standing that firms were required to wait two weeks in the event that a journeyman was compelled to work a job to take up other. But Smith was so wrought up and impatient that it was some little while before I could make the above explanation and even when I did, he did not accept same.

Then suggested that he consult with Mr. Goodwin, the secretary of the U. S. P. A., on this question and that whatever Mr. Goodwin decided would be entirely satisfactory to me, as I was quite satisfied Mr. Goodwin would insist on Smith living up to our understanding in this matter. Smith's comeback for this was that he was not taking orders from Mr. Goodwin, Mr. Duffy or anybody else, that he would handle this as he saw fit. However, he did take up the matter with Mr. Goodwin who requested Smith to live up to the understanding that he must wait for this man who was willing to report within four days to the Shenango as this was in keeping with the spirit of our agreement in that they were supposed to wait two weeks if necessary for a journeyman. Smith promised Mr. Goodwin an answer on the following day. His answer was that he had decided to distribute the work among the journeymen. Our natural conclusion was that Smith's only object was the securing of an apprentice through which he would have the advantage of apprentices' rates of pay for this particular job.

(6.) Casting Dispute. Mr. Smith apparently was determined to ignore the spirit as well as the letter of our Agreement, for in spite of the joint efforts of Mr. Goodwin and the Brotherhood officials to impress Mr. Smith with the necessity of living up to all features of our Agreement, as is evident in the account given by me in the previous dispute, our endeavors to keep this recalcitrant gentleman within bounds, he seemingly was determined as ever to go contrary to the Agreement as is evident by his attitude in this casting dispute. This dispute arose over Smith putting on a man who never had any experience in casting except as a sanitary caster. Mr. Smith, like the proverbial drowning man grasping for a straw, always looking for technicalities thru which he usually succeeds in stirring up a hornet's nest, claimed that the Agreement said, "Any journeyman caster could accept a vacancy," stressing what the word implies in term only and not being willing to accept the intent as well as the positive wording of our Agreement wherein it specifically states how a man can qualify in order to become a journeyman caster.

Since it is set down in the Agreement between the U. S. P. A. and the National Brotherhood on page 44 of our printed Agreement just what is required of a man before he can be recognized under our Agreement as a journeyman caster and since this specific requirement appears, as stated above, in the section of our General

Ware Agreement pertaining to casting, no sane person could conclude otherwise but that the apprenticeship required therein must be fulfilled in a general ware pottery and in no other. Mr. Smith, as stated above, hung on to the word "caster," repeatedly uttering this man is a caster and he found the same word in our Agreement, he felt highly jubilant over the fact that this man claimed to be a caster and placed everything on the word "caster" and was not willing to take into consideration anything else, such as the nature of the work through which this man secured his actual experience. Smith, crying out loud, kept continually crying, "He's a caster, he's a caster, he's a caster, and that's what the Agreement says 'caster' and I am going to place him on." We took this matter up through the Secretary of the U. S. P. A., who to our surprise, went along with Mr. Smith in his contention. How ridiculous to place everything on a mere word! Mr. Smith, as well as those who encouraged him, in his childish stand on this occasion, might, with just as much reason, have gone out and secured a man who does casting in a foundry or steel mill and contended that such a one also had a right to enter the casting trade solely because the word C-A-S-T-E-R had been employed in the way of identifying his job in the foundry or mill. After considerable energy spent in trying to have this matter rectified with Smith through the proper officials of the U. S. P. A., we got nowhere. This man, who was taking this casting job illegally, was a member of the Brotherhood in good standing as a journeyman sanitary caster. We, having in our rules and by-laws a law forbidding a man to go from general ware to sanitary or vice versa unless he had previously qualified by way of having served his apprenticeship in same, and since this man had taken the solemn obligation to live up to and observe the laws and regulations of our organization, in desperation we decided to appeal to his conscience and so called this brother into headquarters and finally succeeded in persuading this brother to quit the job. Smith, on the following day, with much haughtiness requested of Secretary John McGillivray a journeyman caster, said caster, he informed us, must be on plant ready for work within twenty-four hours or if failing to do so, someone else would be placed on this job. Secretary McGillivray, not wishing to take up the argument which Smith quite evidently was again seeking in the matter of insisting on the requested caster being there within twenty-four hours, because of the fact that our Secretary had a number of casters on our unemployment list, he naturally thought that he could supply Smith within twenty-four hours as Smith had demanded and to do this, our secretary felt, was the best way in which to get along with Smith on this occasion. McGillivray called a journeyman caster into our office and explained to this caster the peculiar type of man that Mr. Smith had always been and asked this caster if he would accept the place Mr. Smith had open and also if he could report within twenty-four hours to the office, as Brother McGillivray stated, desired to get along with the Shenango with as least possible friction as it would be humanly possible to do so. This caster promised our secretary to be there within twenty-four hours, as he did not have any other job and was free to report at once. For some reason or other, said brother caster was one hour and a half over the twenty-four hour limit in reporting to the Shenango the next day, being one hour and a half overtime, he was informed that another would be placed on this job and that he could report immediately to East Liverpool. This brother, on his return to East Liverpool, reported this to headquarters. We took up the matter with Smith and the proper officials in a hopeless attempt to have the spirit of the apprentice law carried out, which was preference to men without jobs. Since we had quite a large unemployment waiting list, men with families to provide for, we were extremely desirous to place a regular recognized journeyman caster on this job.

Having heard that a number of journeyman casters had made applications direct to the Shenango for a job and knowing that the intent of this law was that if there was any journeyman available known to any firm, who might be in need of a man in any department, said journeyman was entitled to full recognition as to his rights to the job. In accordance with this, we made a check-up on these rumors to the effect that the firm had applications from competent journeymen and found said rumors to be correct. One very competent journeyman caster had made application direct to the Shenango previous to the arising of this dispute, said application was made by registered mail to the Shenango China Company. This left no doubt that the Shenango were making a deliberate attempt to violate this feature of our agreement.

We secured an affidavit from this caster, who made application by registered mail to the Shenango for a casting job, wherein he swears that he did make such application in the manner above stated. Will Mr. Smith or the officials of the Shenango deny this?

Once again may I call your attention in passing to the deliberate conniving of this firm in their endeavors to go contrary to the letter and spirit of our Agreement in its entirety.

(7.) Again using a proverbial saying, this dispute proved "the straw," as the saying goes, "that broke the camel's back," and brought about the present situation at the Shenango.

LURED FROM HOME BY WOMAN 'FAGIN'

Eileen Andrews, 12, whose disappearance in Chicago has caused police to hunt a modern woman "Fagin," who lures school children to her quarters with candy. Eileen's 6-year-old sister, June, tells how a boy she and Eileen had met in the old woman's den came to the Andrews home and took Eileen away.

give me a little advance information on a matter pertaining to something new which he had started in connection with his tunnel kiln. His reason for this advance information to me, he said, was to give first hand information as to the reason for this recent innovation of his on the tunnel kiln, so that I would understand fully the proposition, said understanding, he said, preventing me from taking snap judgment in the matter of making a decision in this affair on later being informed by some of the trouble makers working on other crews at the Shenango, meaning, of course, to impute this stigma to those members of the Brotherhood working on the periodic kiln crew at the Shenango who might feel called upon to report what, in their judgment, was a violation of our Agreement. Smith stated, at the time he called, that kilnmen working on tunnel kiln had expressed themselves as being entirely agreeable with Smith in the adoption of the above referred to innovation, said innovation consisted in Smith using the man, who acts in the capacity of tender to the tunnel kiln, to top all bungs passed through the tunnel kiln. All firms having tunnel kilns maintain a man to tend to said kiln, whose duties are to enter trucks loaded with ware into tunnel kiln, also to withdraw after firing process at the other end the trucks which have completed their journey through the kiln. This has always been a job in itself—all firms having tunnel kilns employing common laborers to do this work, whose entire time is taken up in the tending of such kilns. These kiln-tenders on all plants with the exception of the Shenango seemingly have sufficient work to keep them occupied at all times. Smith concluded that his kiln-tender, had too much time on his hands, so he stated, and as he was paying him a very high wage, he said, he desired that the firm get service from this man for wages received. As he had no other way in which to get the service from this man but to employ him in the tending of the tunnel kiln, he did not see where anyone had any right to object to him using this man in this work. Shortly after Smith called headquarters, the proper officials of Local Union No. 54, New Castle, called us by protest in behalf of the kilnmen, stating that at least one kilnman was deprived the right to follow his trade through this man, who was not a kilnman, being allowed to do kilnman's work, and they, the officers and members of Local 54, requested that National headquarters endeavor to have this man stopped from doing this topping at once. I informed this official of Mr. Smith having said that tunnel kilnmen of the Shenango were agreeable with Mr. Smith that he should use this man in said work. This official stated that Smith had misinformed me in this connection, as the tunnel kilnmen were the ones who made the loudest cry against permitting this to continue. We took the matter up with Smith with the usual results, getting nowhere. We then turned to Secretary Goodwin and asked that something be done. Mr. Goodwin communicated with Smith to learn all the particulars and, likewise, informed Smith of our protesting this issue. Smith also, Mr. Goodwin so stated, was doing this for the reason, as Smith stated, to cut down his labor costs, as in using this man to do this work, it enabled the Shenango to save approximately five thousand dollars annually and said that he would never agree with us to discontinue this man in doing his topping of tunnel kiln. We appealed to Mr. Goodwin to do his utmost to have this matter brought to an amicable ending, as the kilnmen and members of the Brotherhood working at the Shenango had told us in no uncertain terms that unless the Brotherhood stopped this man from doing this work, they were going to take matters into their own hands and they would endeavor to compel Smith to recognize their demand. After many weeks and receiving no further reply from either Mr. Goodwin or Mr. Smith, we made another very earnest plea to Mr. Goodwin to do something in the matter. It was agreed between the officials of the U. S. P. A. and the Brotherhood officials that before any final breaking-off should occur, the Labor Committee of the U. S. P. A. and the Executive Board of the N. B. O. P. should meet with representatives of the Shenango in conference and endeavor to arrive at some understanding in this dispute. In accordance with this, our conference was held, with Smith in his usual form by way of exhibiting his well-developed faculties for expressions of temper with the usual trimmings of profanity in his many and repeated requests for us to proceed hence, to what apparently is Mr. Smith's favorite destination for those, whom he feels, are not willing to do at all times agree with his idea of things, to put it plainly, as Smith expressed it, we could lie ourselves to that land over which the old boy himself rules, or, in other words, for us to go way, way down below.

However, Smith wrote a letter to Secretary Goodwin in which he suggested that Mr. Goodwin and I visit his plant in New Castle and observe just how this tunnel kiln tender did his topping of tunnel kiln. I agreed with Mr. Goodwin to carry out this suggestion of Smith's on condition that he, Mr. Goodwin, accompany me to the Edwin M. Knowles Pottery in Newell, W. Va., as a means of learning just how this firm did the topping of their tunnel kiln. To this Mr. Goodwin readily agreed and we visited the E. M. Knowles plant together.

After Mr. Goodwin and I observed the manner in which our regular kilnmen did all the tunnel kiln placing including the topping and after discussing the matter with the kilnmen employed at the E. M. Knowles Pottery, Mr. Goodwin, in the presence of six or eight kilnmen and myself, said, "There is no question but that it is kilnmen's work and I can see how you would get in wrong if you would let this continue."

Quite naturally, in view of Mr. Goodwin's admission that there was no question but that this was regular kilnmen's work, yours truly thought this was the beginning of the ending of this dispute and that Mr. Goodwin would so inform the Shenango firm, but Goodwin, on our return from New Castle, called us to New Castle as he had informed Mr. Smith that we would make the visit at the Shenango and allow Smith the opportunity to point out what, in Smith's opinion, were practical reasons why he, Smith, should be permitted to continue this kiln-tender in topping tunnel kiln.

On our meeting lasting only a few moments in the Shenango office with Smith, Smith escorted Mr. Goodwin and me out through the tunnel kiln shed, where we observed what a tremendous quantity of ware these three kiln-tenders (there being three shifts of eight hours each of the twenty-four hour day, during which a man was employed tending said tunnel kiln) placed on top of all the bungs of saggers placed on trucks by the kilnmen during their eight-hour day. Smith again emphasized his determination to continue these men in this work, repeatedly stating that by using said kiln-tenders in topping, he was saving at least five thousand dollars annually and that he was getting service from these men, whom, he said, he was paying the munificent sum of fifty cents per hour, whereas, regular kilnmen in china received ninety-six cents per hour for day wage kiln placing; hence you will note the difference in the wages paid these kiln-tenders and the regular kilnmen's wages. I am sure that, in the light of what information you already have through having read our story last week in the press as to what led up to the present situation in New Castle, Smith's one and only desire was to have the benefit of the cheap labor of these men and that he was insisting on this for no other purpose save only that of getting product at less cost than his competitors, and in this, may I mention in passing, Smith has become as troublesome to his competitors as he has been to the National Brotherhood.

After having received the many and various reasons from Smith as to the reason he persisted in the employing of these unskilled laborers in this topping, I pointed out to Mr. Smith that he could easily employ these men in the washing and cleaning of saggers as well as the usual cleaning-up of the kiln-shed and in this way he could get service for wages paid to these men; of course, Smith lightly passed this by by saying that these men could not be trusted to do the work herein suggested on the night shifts because there would be no one to oversee their work.

During the time of our touring through the tunnel kiln shed and through all the time consumed by Smith in the matter of making his repeated assertions as to the absolute necessity of his continuing the cause of the dispute in regard to his tunnel kiln, in view of Mr. Goodwin's admission that there was no question but that it was regular journeyman kilnmen's work, I remained confident of ultimately receiving a favorable decision in this matter, but imagine my astonishment on our return to the office of the Shenango, after this tour of inspection, at Mr. Goodwin's complete right-about-face in that he agreed with Mr. Smith in all that he had said, and that, therefore, Mr. Goodwin could see no reason why Smith should not be permitted to continue this work.

The turn of events on this day surely was disheartening, to say the least, as it seemed that the manner and method that had so often been used in the past to settle disputes were being completely set aside. I refer to the often accepted practice of accepting custom and precedent to settle disputes whenever we found ourselves without any specific basis in the Agreement for settling our many disputes. However, it seemed hopeless to continue our efforts for a fair and equitable ending of this long drawn out dispute.

Following this was the conference between the Labor Committee of the U. S. P. A., of which Mr. Smith was a member, and the Executive Board of the N. B. O. P., three gentlemen on the Labor Committee of the U. S. P. A., and present in this conference were representatives of three other firms, whose plants were operating tunnel kilns, said firms employing only regularly recognized journeyman kilnmen in doing all their kiln-placing, including the topping thereof. Smith alone stood out as the representative of the one plant of all the plants having tunnel kilns, where unskilled laborers were used in doing any part of the kiln work, but, as stated above, this conference was unproductive of any agreement satisfactory to the parties to the controversy. The conference adjourned with the understanding that the fight was between the Shenango Pottery Company and the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters and that the U. S. P. A., as an organization, would not further be a party to either side.

We communicated with Local Union No. 54, New Castle, informing them of our failure to reach any understanding with their firm, but suggested that their Shop Committee again call on Mr. Smith after three or four days and endeavor to come to some understanding with Mr. Smith. In the event of failing to reach an understanding with Smith in this matter, and if it was the desire of the members of Local 54, the Executive Board were unanimous in the intention to back the members of Local 54, in their decision to strike, if necessary, in an effort to stop these intruders from further working at kilnmen's trade. This resulted in kilnmen ceasing work on Smith's notice to them that he would not agree to stop this practice four days after our conference on this question.

Although kilnmen had ceased work, we refrained from issuing a general strike order to our members working at the Shenango, as we were still hoping for some settlement. In the course of a few days, due to kilnmen not working, the clay workers were compelled to cease work owing to the want of space in the green-room, members working in mould-shop, and decorating departments remaining at their work.

About a week after kilnmen ceased work, Mr. Smith called all his kilnmen in meeting on the Shenango Pottery, said meeting convening at 7:30 P. M. These kilnmen responded to the invitation to attend the above meeting, as Mr. Smith said he had a very important matter he desired to discuss with them.

Mr. Smith opened up the meeting and went on to enumerate the many advantages which he had extended to his employees, said advantages consisting mostly in the fact, as Smith stated, that he was furnishing groceries, clothing and so forth through this store system of his at cost. Smith said he was unable to understand why these employees were unwilling to treat him fairly in return for these advantages, often referred to by Smith. He also consumed considerable time in telling these kilnmen of the many acts of unfairness on the part of the officials of the Brotherhood, particularly the present head of the organization and referred to yours truly in very ungentlemanly and uncomplimentary terms.

After quite a long talk devoted entirely to an effort to make these people believe that they were being misled by the officials of the Brotherhood to their detriment, Smith presented his proposition in writing, the sum and substance of which was as follows: That a Committee be selected from among the kilnmen at this meeting, said Committee to go to East Liverpool the following morning and insist, not request but insist, that the officials of the Brotherhood permit them to return to work with the understanding that Smith be permitted to continue using these kiln-tenders in the topping of his tunnel kiln.

per, you can easily imagine how the gentleman raved on their refusal to take a vote on this proposition as submitted by him. After Smith's continued efforts to persuade the kilnmen that they should take a favorable action on the above mentioned proposition, repeatedly did he leave the room where this meeting was held in order to permit the kilnmen to vote on same. After these many exits of Smith's for the purpose of giving them an opportunity to cast their ballots, Smith, on each return to the meeting room and on learning of their failure to vote, waxed furious and issued ultimatum after ultimatum, promising most dire things for these kilnmen for their failure to give him a square deal.

After virtually being prisoners for several hours, some of these incarcerated kilnmen succeeded in getting the National officials by telephone and informed us of their plight, with the result that, through the insistence of these kilnmen that we come to their rescue and endeavor to extricate them from their precarious predicament, Brother McGillivray and I left East Liverpool at 12:35 A. M., arriving at the Shenango at 2:00 A. M., just as Mr. Smith was driving these kilnmen from the plant and, in a rage, declaring that from this hour on the Shenango was to be operated open-shop.

We adjourned to the home of one of the kilnmen and there learned the particulars as to just what all occurred during the meeting. Brother McGillivray and I returned to East Liverpool, arriving back home at 5:00 A. M., after one of the most unusual and one of the most strange trips, caused by a very unusual and strange man, whose mind, surely you will agree with me, takes some very queer turns.

Had we used spirited high-stepping steeds instead of an automobile to make this mid-night journey to New Castle, Brother McGillivray and I could justly be accused of stealing Paul Revere's stuff in answering this appeal of our kilnmen to rescue them from the bombardment of Smith's denunciatory exclamations of displeasure and animosity towards the kilnmen for their refusal to approve this proposition of his, as well as towards the officials of the Brotherhood in daring to accept the gauntlet that Smith had laid down to us.

We elected to accept said gauntlet because we are of the firm conviction that Mussolinism is absolutely adverse to American ideals, and I am sure you will agree, Mr. Smith, by his attitude shows an utter lack of understanding of what is generally accepted as American fairness and justice.

"GOD'S WRATH" SERMON TOPIC

Evangelist Oney in Nazarene Church Pulpit.

NEWELL, W. Va., Feb. 9.—Large crowds continue to attend the revival in the Church of the Nazarene, Washington street, in charge of the Rev. Edward C. Oney of Rush, Ky., who last night spoke on "God's Wrath." The Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the East Liverpool church, offered prayer, while the song service was in charge of the Rev. F. F. Freese, assisted by the church orchestra. Miss Ruth Peterson, of East Liverpool, sang "He Lifted Me." The evangelist said in part: "God created man for a holy purpose. I intended that we should be holy in heart and life. As a warning against a disregard for God's wishes he hung out the red lantern of caution and said that in the day man sinned he should surely die." "He also said that man's body is to be a holy temple for the Holy Ghost and that he who destroys by sin, this temple, him will God destroy. Even this red lantern of warning has been disregarded and God at many times has made examples of those who were disobedient." "As in the case of Korah, a company who murmured against God's choice of Moses as leader of the people, God said to Moses and the rest separate yourselves from this ungodly company. The separation was made and the earth opened a yawning chasm and Korah and his company went down into hell alive. Belshazzar, king of the Chaldeans, committed sacrilege in using the holy vessels of the temple service as wine cups for their unholy feast and that night was terrible justice meted out. Beware of God's warnings." Rev. Mr. Oney will preach at all the services tomorrow. Singing will be in charge of the Barnett Sisters of Akron, O.

RUPTURE IS NOT A TEAR

NO BREAK TO HEAL

Some people have a mistaken idea that rupture is a tear. Rupture is not a tear, but purely a muscular weakness in the abdominal wall. Trusses merely brace these muscles, but do not strengthen them—on the contrary the gouging of the ordinary truss pad often increases this weakness, because it tends to shut off blood circulation. STUART'S ADHESIF PLAPAO-PADS are entirely different—being mechanic-chemical applicators—made self-adhesive purposely to keep the muscle-tonic, called "Plapao" continuously applied to the affected parts, and to minimize danger of slipping and painful friction. No straps, buckles or springs attached. Soft as velvet—easy to apply—inexpensive. Awarded Gold Medal, Rome, Grand Prix, Paris, Honorable Mention, Panama Pacific Exposition, San Francisco, etc. For almost a quarter century satisfied thousands report success—without delay from work. Stacks of sworn testimonials received even from the far corners of the Earth. Process of recovery is natural, so no subsequent use for trusses.

NEW STUDEBAKER FOUR POPULAR

Studebaker's new President Eight State Victoria for four is in widespread favor with drivers who like the smartness and intimacy of a close coupled enclosed car, yet also desire a somewhat roomier interior than a coupe or cabriolet affords, according to R. D. Bryan, Studebaker-Erskine dealer here. "It appeals especially to women who desire a smart personal car for shopping, sports or social occasions," he said.

"For this reason Studebaker designers devoted unusual care to the development of comfortable seating arrangements, at the same time giving the body the lines and color combinations such distinction as to make the new Victoria a truly outstanding reflection of the latest motoring mode.

"The body lines are markedly low as a result of Studebaker's double drop frame construction, which also has the effect of lowering the center of gravity and insuring fine riding qualities and roadability. The graceful body contours are emphasized by a new treatment of belt line and moulding. Curved windshield pillars and a smart French visor frame the non-shatterable safety windshield with its two automatic windshield cleaners."

Solomon-Unglo Scrap Tops Fight Features At Eagles' Monday

O'Donnell Billed in 6-Rounder

Nick Caruso Paired With Johnny Pollock in Prelim.

CONFIDENT that he has a bunch of punches who'll dish up action all the way, Matchmaker Tom McDonough is ready to send his pack of scrappers into action almost anytime now, although the program is not scheduled until Monday night in the Eagles' arena.

Topped off by the Micky Solomon-Jack Unglo eight rounder, the card shows a pair of bantams, and a quartet of lighties in addition. Solomon and Unglo are billed at 150 pounds. Jackie Powers, the hard hitting Youngstown bantam who scored a win a couple of months ago in his sole appearance in the East Liverpool district, will have his hands full with Johnny O'Donnell, the East Liverpool lad who not so long ago was up with the best of them in his division throughout the state.

Nick Caruso, Midland boxer, will take on opposition of a tougher nature than he has been accustomed to in local rings when he trades swats with Johnny Pollock of Youngstown in a four-round prelim bout.

Caruso has never been unbalanced in his numerous fights on the local canvas and while he is not a flashy puncher he has the ruggedness that will make Pollock step to win.

Young Danny, a Midland boy, formerly of Tacoma, Wash., tangles with Johnny Myers of Pittsburgh at 135 pounds in the opener.

Buckeye-Wolverine Setto Tops Big 10 Cage Layout

Indiana Plays Hawk-eyes and Illinois Tackles Down-trodden Maroons in Other Games Tonight.

By Gene Hoffman. CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—All but last sight of during the feverish weeks of mid-year examinations, the battle for the Big Ten basketball championship will get under way again on three sectors of the Western conference front tonight.

Sharpshooters from Ohio State and Michigan will snipe at each other on the Wolverines' floor at Ann Arbor in the feature game on tonight's card. Michigan, with four straight wins, is the only team in the conference that hasn't been defeated.

The Buckeyes, despite two previous setbacks, have three victories to their credit and still nurse an ambition to win the title. Suffice to say they will give their all in trying to wreck the smooth running Michigan machine.

In other games tonight, Indiana plays the Hawkeyes at Iowa City and Illinois comes here to tackle the down-trodden Maroons. Chicago has dropped six games without a single win. That means the midway boys are about due, and Illinois, with two wins and three defeats, may be the victim.

The Iowa-Indiana affair means more to the Hawks than to the Hoosiers who are practically out of the running with four losses and only two victories. This is a peculiar spot for Indiana, usually a winner at the cage pasture. Iowa at present is tied with Ohio State and likewise still cherishes the hope of doing things and going places.

Michigan's chief rivals—Wisconsin

Lorah's Quint Is Victor at Smith Field

Newell Girls Lose Prelim Thriller by One Point.

Coach Nate Lorah's Newell quint came back to the win column last night with a decisive 21 to 10 victory over Smithfield high at Smithfield.

Newell girls lost a heart breaker in the preliminary, 11-10. The Newell six had a one-point lead when, just as the timer's gun sounded to end the game, a Smithfield goal dropped through the hoop.

Center Sage was in form as he bucketed the leather five times and sank one from the charity line.

The big center has scored 141 points in 13 games, almost an average of 11 per game. Smith is trailing him with 104.

Sharkey-Strib Punches Put On Exhibition

Rivals in "Battle of Palms" Work Out For Crowds.

By Larry Smits. MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 9.—With the first preliminary blows struck in the battle of the palms, Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling settled down to the hard training today for their bout on the 27th.

Sharkey and Jack Dempsey went to Tampa last night to start the west coast ballyhooing. Dempsey made a speech from the ring and Sharkey then knocked three unidentified palookas speechless.

Meanwhile Strib was testing out his wallop here against one "Domino Fats," a glubular gent from Atlantic City, N. J. It was the Macon mauler's first serious workout.

Domino's figure was falstaffian, convivial rather than athletic. Stribling cuffed him a couple of times with an annoying left, then just before the going sent over a right that all but ruined the Domino.

Stribling worked out two rounds at skipping rope, a round with the heavy bag. A round of shadow boxing and another round with his kid brother, Babe Stribling. The Georgian looked rather finely drawn, weighing around 180. He will seek to add two or three pounds before the fight.

The customers paid half a dollar—four bits in this section—for the privilege of viewing Young Stribling and his entourage. Stribling will have for sparring partners Sully Montgomery, Tony Fuente, and Jeff Carroll, and will work daily with them hereafter.

Chester Five Beats Bethany In Close Tilt

McCown and Maple Star In Two-point Victory.

Showing their greatest form of the season to date, Coach Roy Kightley's Chester five nosed out Bethany high at Chester last night, 22 to 20, in a game abounding in thrills.

The two teams were well matched in every respect. At no time was the margin between them more than three points.

The work of Maple and McCown, the Chester guards, was a big factor, this pair turning in five field goals between them, most of which were of the sensational order.

The Chester passers will play to night at New Cumberland.

In the preliminary game, the Chester Junior highs won from the Newell Juniors, 19 to 14.

BASEBALL STARS "UP IN THE AIR"

HAVANA, Cuba, Feb. 9.—Airplanes will be used to transport baseball teams to and from the United States if the proposed plan to include a Cuban baseball nine in a United States league is carried out.

It is proposed to enter a Cuban team in the Southeastern league. Negotiations have already been undertaken, but no decision has been reached.

If the plans go through airplanes will be employed for the first time for the regular transportation of teams. Another feature is that it will be the first time that two countries speaking different languages will be regularly pitted against each other on the baseball diamond.

NEW STUDEBAKER FOUR POPULAR

Studebaker's new President Eight State Victoria for four is in widespread favor with drivers who like the smartness and intimacy of a close coupled enclosed car, yet also desire a somewhat roomier interior than a coupe or cabriolet affords, according to R. D. Bryan, Studebaker-Eskine dealer here. "It appeals especially to women who desire a smart personal car for shopping, sports or social occasions," he said.

"For this reason Studebaker designers devoted unusual care to the development of comfortable seating arrangements, at the same time giving the body the lines and color combinations such distinction as to make the new Victoria a truly outstanding reflection of the latest motoring mode."

"The body lines are markedly low as a result of Studebaker's double drop frame construction, which also has the effect of lowering the center of gravity and insuring fine riding qualities and roadability. The graceful body contours are emphasized by a new treatment of belt line and moulding. Curved windshield pillars and a smart French visor frame the non-shatterable safety windshield with its two automatic windshield cleaners."

Solomon-Unglo Scrap Tops Fight Features At Eagles' Monday

O'Donnell Billed in 6-Rounder

Nick Caruso Paired With Johnny Pollock in Prelim.

CONFIDENT that he has a bunch of punches who'll dish up action all the way, Matchmaker Tom McDonough is ready to send his pack of scrappers into action almost anytime now, although the program is not scheduled until Monday night in the Eagles' arena.

Topped off by the Micky Solomon-Jack Unglo eight rounder, the card shows a pair of bantams, and a quartet of lighties in addition. Solomon and Unglo are billed at 150 pounds. Jackie Powers, the hard hitting Youngstown bantam who scored a win a couple of months ago in his sole appearance in the East Liverpool district, will have his hands full with Johnny O'Donnell, the East Liverpool lad who not so long ago was up with the best of them in his division throughout the state.

Nick Caruso, Midland boxer, will take on opposition of a tougher nature than he has been accustomed to in local rings when he trades swats with Johnny Pollock of Youngstown in a four-round prelim bout.

Caruso has never been unbalanced in his numerous fights on the local canvas and while he is not a flashy puncher he has the ruggedness that will make Pollock step to win.

Young Danny, a Midland boy, formerly of Tacoma, Wash., tangles with Johnny Myers of Pittsburgh at 135 pounds in the opener.

Great Field Competes in Millrose A. A.

Williams, Nurmi, Wide, Hamm Prominent Among Starters.

By Davis J. Walsh.
NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Sponsoring something in the nature of a "squirrel cage" olympics, in a track with eight laps to the mile, the Millrose A. A. will uncover the finest field ever assembled on a board track for its annual games at a Madison Square Garden tonight. Percy Williams, the Canadian schoolboy who ran our sprinters into the ground at Amsterdam, is the feature entry of the spring series. Paavo Nurmi, olympic winner at 10,000 meters, will go after his own world's record in the mile; Edvin Wide, the Swede, will give the two mile a rally while Ed Hamm and Elizabeth Robinson, American winners at Amsterdam, will be prominent among the starters in the Brint series and the girls' international relay respectively.

Olympic point winners also will be about the premises in some profusion. James Ball, the Canadian who made Ray Barbatti dive headlong at the tape to get our only track victory, will start in the special 600 and the international relay. John Fitzpatrick, a point winner for Canada in the dashes, will go for the sprint series and relay. Phil Edwards, Canadian negro who placed in the 800; Ray Conger, Leo Lermond and a few more American scorers at Amsterdam, also will be conspicuous starters—and finishers.

Barring the activities of the Scandinavians, the games virtually have resolved themselves into an international dual meet between Canada and the United States.

A dam, 120 feet high, was recently dedicated at Reggio nell'Emilia, Italy.

Buckeye-Wolverine Setto Tops Big 10 Cage Layout

Indiana Plays Hawk-eyes and Illinois Tackles Down-trodden Maroons in Other Games Tonight.

By Gene Hoffman.
CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—All but lost sight of during the feverish weeks of mid-year examinations, the battle for the Big Ten basketball championship will get under way again on three sectors of the Western conference front tonight.

Sharpshooters from Ohio State and Michigan will snipe at each other on the Wolverines' floor at Ann Arbor in the feature game on tonight's card. Michigan, with four straight wins, is the only team in the conference that hasn't been defeated.

The Buckeyes, despite two previous setbacks, have three victories to their credit and still nurse an ambition to win the title. Suffice to say they will give their all in trying to wreck the smooth running Michigan machine.

In other games tonight, Indiana plays the Hawkies at Iowa City and Illinois comes here to tackle the down-trodden Maroons. Chicago has dropped six games without a single win. That means the midway boys are about due, and Illinois, with two wins and three defeats, may be the victim.

The Iowa-Indiana affair means more to the Hawkies than to the Hoosiers who are practically out of the running with four losses and only two victories. This is a peculiar spot for Indiana, usually a winner at the case pastime. Iowa at present is tied with Ohio State and likewise still cherishes the hope of doing things and going places.

Michigan's chief rivals—Wisconsin—

Lorah's Quint Is Victor at Smith Field

Newell Girls Lose Prelim Thriller by One Point.

Coach Nate Lorah's Newell quint came back to the win column last night with a decisive 21 to 10 victory over Smithfield high at Smithfield.

Newell girls lost a heart breaker in the preliminary, 11-10. The Newell six had a one-point lead when, just as the timer's gun sounded to end the game, a Smithfield goal dropped through the hoop.

Center Sage was in form as he bucketed the leather five times and sank one from the charity line.

The big center has scored 141 points in 13 games, almost an average of 11 per game. Smith is trailing him with 104.

Sharkey-Strib Punches Put On Exhibition

Rivals in "Battle of Palms" Work Out For Crowds.

By Larry Smits.
MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 9.—With the first preliminary blows struck in the battle of the palms, Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling settled down to the hard training today for their bout on the 27th.

Sharkey and Jack Dempsey went to Tampa last night to start the west coast ballyhoo boiling. Dempsey made a speech from the ring and Sharkey then knocked three unidentified palookas speechless.

Meanwhile Strib was testing out his wallop here against one "Domino Fats," a gladiator gent from Atlantic City, N. J. It was the Macon mauler's first serious workout.

Domino's figure was falstaffian, convivial rather than athletic. Stribling cuffed him a couple of times with an annoying left, then just before the going sent over a right that all but ruined the Domino.

Stribling worked out two rounds at skipping rope, a round with the heavy bag. A round of shadow boxing and another round with his kid brother, Babe Stribling. The Georgian looked rather finely drawn, weighing around 180. He will seek to add two or three pounds before the fight.

The customers paid half a dollar—four bits in this section—for the privilege of viewing Young Stribling and his entourage. Stribling will have for sparring partners Sully Montgomery, Tony Fuente, and Jeff Carroll, and will work daily with them hereafter.

Chester Five Beats Bethany In Close Tilt

McCown and Maple Star In Two-point Victory.

Showing their greatest form of the season to date, Coach Roy Keightley's Chester five nosed out Bethany high at Chester last night, 22 to 20, in a game abounding in thrills.

The two teams were well matched in every respect. At no time was the margin between them more than three points.

The work of Maple and McCown, the Chester guards, was a big factor, this pair turning in five field goals between them, most of which were of the sensational order.

The Chester passers will play tonight at New Cumberland.

In the preliminary game, the Chester Junior highs won from the Newell Juniors, 19 to 14.

BASEBALL STARS "UP IN THE AIR"

HAVANA, Cuba, Feb. 9.—Airplanes will be used to transport baseball teams to and from the United States if the proposed plan to include a Cuban baseball nine in a United States league is carried out.

It is proposed to enter a Cuban team in the Southeastern league. Negotiations have already been undertaken, but no decision has been reached.

If the plans go through airplanes will be employed for the first time for the regular transportation of teams. Another feature is that it will be the first time that two countries speaking different languages will be regularly pitted against each other on the baseball diamond.

FACULTY FIVE BOOKS GAME

MIDLAND, Pa., Feb. 9.—The male members of the Lincoln High school faculty have organized a basketball team. The Faculty of Indiana has booked a game with the locals for Saturday night, February 16, on the Indiana floor.

The squad includes: W. P. Lomond, captain and coach; Howard Ash, Roy Duncan, Carl Minich, Robert Hays, C. W. Roberts and Alex Della Valle.

Hurstmen Victors, 38-9; Play Stubbers Tonight

Twelve Blue and White Cagers See Action in Engagement at Wellsville; in Top Form for Cartledge Quint Here.

East Liverpool high school passers divided a double bill last night on the Wellsville court. Coach Joe Hurst's Blue and White winning easily over the Tiger, 38-9, in the main event, while the Ceramic city girls were defeated in the prelim engagement, 25-18.

Hurst used 12 players in all to run up a decisive score against the Orange and Black, with the second team and a number of the Reserves getting into the fray before it was over.

As a result, the squad in general will be in top condition to go against Charley Cartledge's "Red Comet" from Steubenville tonight on the auditorium court. The Pottery nosed out a win over the Jefferson countians by a single point in a bitterly fought battle several weeks ago on the Stubbers court, and despite the fact that the opposition has lost a man or two, will be dangerous all the way tonight.

They fought it out pretty closely in the opening period when the Pottery finished with a 3-1 lead but after that the visitors, having located the nets, had little difficulty in piling up points. The Wellsville passers scored three field goals, all of which were made in the second period. The three other points were made in the first, third and fourth periods, each representing a foul shot in each canto.

After three and a half minutes had slipped by in which Dyke, Shanks, Thompson and McConville had missed free throws in charity lane, Red Dyke received a pass under the basket and sank the opening field goal. With-erow came through with a free point and that constituted East Liverpool scoring for the opening quarter.

Red Nelson stepped to the free stripe to score the home five's only point of the period.

Dyke caged one under the basket after taking a pass from out of bounds to launch the second period. Nelson slipped in a field goal from 20 feet out. Feit cut under the basket and counted. Chetwin replaced Dyke at center. Feit tallied on a side shot. Reavley missed a foul.

Nelson popped one from the foul line. Feit again dribbled through the Orange defense and added two more points. Withorow hooped one from the foul mark and the Tigers took time out.

Small replaced Feit at forward. Chetwin counted from back of the foul line. McNutt took Lindell's place. Shanks hit from scrumage under the basket. Withorow pulled the same feat a minute later and then added one on a side throw, sinking a foul as the half ended. The score was 18-7.

McNutt dribbled in to score a few seconds after the first tipoff in the third quarter. Withorow duplicated. Nelson counted a foul. McConville took a pass under the basket and scored. Small dribbled in to score. Buckley went in for Thompson. Small cut to the basket, took the shot and dispatched Crawford, Lane, Greenwood and McCoy to the battle scene. The third quarter count was 28-8.

Lane scored at close range. Buckley made one out of a pair of free chances. McCoy counted under the basket.

Feit, Lindell, Dyke, McConville and Withorow came back for another session. Dyke dribbled through the Tishone guard to score. Withorow bounced the leather the length of the court to tally. Dyke took a pass and sent it home as the gun barked out the finish.

Inability to locate the baskets in the first two periods cost the local girls their game with the Wellsville ladies. The scoring was absolutely even in the third and final quarters but the seven-point lead that the Orange held at the half was enough to win.

McNutt dribbled in to score a few seconds after the first tipoff in the third quarter. Withorow duplicated. Nelson counted a foul. McConville took a pass under the basket and scored. # VANGUARD

A Highly Amusing Story of a Romance Aboard a Millionaire's Yacht.

By Arnold Bennett

"No. Not as at present arranged," she said. "But of course it will call, when you receive the reply from Count Veruda."

"Well, perhaps she would," said the operator. "I should be sorry to contradict you. But it would depend on the wording of the reply."

"Oh! That could be fixed," said Harriet obscurely. "You aren't the first person tonight to ask me to send off a message." The operator smiled.

"Really?" she exclaimed, as though the information was of immense interest. "And did you?"

"No. I couldn't oblige."

"But you'll oblige me, won't you?"

"I should love to," the operator replied, placidly, unexceptionally, ruthlessly polite. "But I can't. I have my orders. And they are to send nothing out except what I receive from Lord Furber or the captain."

"So I believe," said the operator. "I'm sorry. Very sorry." He spoke with as much emotion as though he had heard the sad news that a great-aunt's favorite Pekinese had been suddenly struck down by ear complaint.

"That leaves only the captain. Well, we all know the captain, and we know he wouldn't understand about the importance of a woman's clothes."

"Probably not. I'm very sorry."

"Do you mean you're sorry about Lord Furber's illness or about the limitations of the captain's understanding, or about your not being able to do me this small favor?"

"About everything," said the operator, nobly and with fortitude.

The Vamp

Harriet leaned back in her chair. "Your orders are quite definite?"

"Quite."

"Well then, of course, you can't disobey them, even for a few minutes and to do a perfectly innocent job for a poor damsel in distress?" Harriet gave him a humorous, detached, easy, friendly smile.

"I can't." The operator spoke with equal detachment.

"Anyhow, there's no harm done is there?"

"None."

"You'll think me very curious," said Harriet. "But do you wear those things on your ears all the time—for instance—in bed?"

"Not when I'm in bed," the operator replied. "He went on as judiciously as if he were describing the case of a third person: 'You see, it's like this. A ship is not allowed to send wireless messages while she's in port. Our voyages are generally very short. A dozen or twenty hours at the most. Few yachtsmen care for a day and a night at sea, especially owners of big yachts. They use their yachts more as hotels than ships. So when we do happen to be at sea, I sit up most of the time, as a rule.'"

"And read?"

"Yes."

"What's that book you were reading? I'm always frightfully interested in other people's lives." Harriet became eager.

"That's the Tauchnitz volume of Swinburne selections."

"How amusing! And are you an 'Honorable' like your cousin, Luke John?"

"No. How could I be?"

"No. Of course you couldn't be unless both your fathers were peers. And it isn't often two brothers are peers, is it? How stupid of me! But you're the nephew of a peer."

"I'm sorry to say that I'm also the grandson of an earl—through my mother."

"And yet you're a wireless operator?"

"Why not? I'm a product of the public school system. My family is poor on both sides. The male members of the aristocracy, pardon the word—are educated in such a way that they inevitably leave the university with one of two ideas in their heads. Either they mean to be engineers or to go into the city. There is nothing else. I could imagine few trades more ignoble than the city. Engineering provides at least some pleasant toys for an intelligent child. I specialized in wireless because of its mystery. And here I am. Voilà!"

"And Luke John got you the situation?"

"It just happened so." The operator shrugged his shoulders.

"I should have thought you would have hated to serve under the new rich."

"Quite the contrary. I rather enjoy studying the present specimen at close quarters. I'm told he's marvelous. It's quite conceivable. Nothing is inconceivable. I admit he has a certain barbaric force. But he hasn't a notion how to live; he's unhappy and he's bored. He doesn't know what he's alive for."

"How true! Harriet murmured with feeling. "It's really touching to see how he loves to employ people who are better bred than himself. There's Luke and there's me. Not to mention the alleged Count Veruda. And I am told that one of his shore secretaries is the daughter of a dead colonial governor or something of the kind. There may be others. Yes, our present specimen is an extremely diverting study. And the point is that he doesn't know it and I do. I give him credit for wanting to stand well with me. Also for a dim, savage suspicion that I simply don't care a gooseberry for him. The fellow is not without insight."

The operator made a little noise in his nose, apparently to signify a kindly sneer.

Harriet was now beginning to understand why the other Mr. Tunnicliff had called his cousin a Tartar. He was a Tartar in a deeper and more terrifying sense than she could have previously imagined. But at the same time he was proving himself to be a Tartar such as she might utilize. She collected her faculties. She had captured Mr. Sutherland without an effort. She had fascinated Lord Furber without an effort. She had captured Luke John Tunnicliff without an effort—though in a fit of childish temper the youth had broken loose and was temporarily out of hand. Sure she could capture the operator. Never had she consciously used the gifts of heaven to gain any but the most trifling social ends. She had always scorned to do so. But she was determined to use them now for an end of importance, and she had the conviction that she would be successful.

She stood up, thrilled. In the rough masculinity of the cabin she felt herself to be endowed with irresistible feminine magic. All men (she had always heard) were alike at bottom. They would all fall like ninetins before a certain form of attack.

"You're wonderful!" she exclaimed in a voice whose calmness was contradicted by her eyes and attitude. "I don't say it to flatter you." Her voice grew almost stern in its sincerity. "But you really are wonderful. Now be honest with me. Don't let's fence and be conventional. Don't you think you're rather wonderful?" Exquisitely she seemed to be entreating him for the precious truth.

"Yes, I do," said the operator, quite simply. "That is, by comparison."

"I should have despised you if you hadn't answered just like that," she said quietly and seriously, even harshly. "I should have been terribly disappointed. Good night!" she said with sudden finality.

She picked up the enormous fur overcoat, which now she seemed scarcely able to lift.

"Let me help you."

"I won't trouble to put it on, thanks."

"You'd better. I know this cabin is horribly close. You might easily take a chill. The tramantana is beginning to blow."

"Do you think so?"

"I know it is."

He helped her with the overcoat.

"Good night again," she said over her shoulder.

"Good night."

She reached the door when she turned back.

"My bag."

The bag was on the floor again. The operator picked it up.

"Thanks so much."

Harriet Tries

At that instant, as she was accepting the valuable bag at his hands, the whole cabin gave a lurch, and Harriet stumbled.

K. C. Councils To Hear Home Office Aide

D. E. Butler Will Visit Three County Towns.

HERE TUESDAY
Wellsville and Salineville
Also on His Itinerary.

five of the Supreme Council, Knights of Columbus, will address five Ohio councils, including East Liverpool, Wellsville and Salineville, next week. He will arrive in Dennison Monday. On Tuesday he will visit Carroll Council in East Liverpool. On Wednesday, he will go to Wellsville and on Thursday he will visit Salineville. On Friday, he will meet with the officers and members in Crestline.

Butler is one of several representatives who provide a contact between the headquarters of the order and the more than 2,000 subordinate councils in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico, and the Philippines.

Special council meetings will be called in each of the cities Butler will visit in order to give the local members an opportunity to hear him. Butler's visit will mark the first time in a year that these councils have played host to a representative of the supreme council.

The city of Glasgow, Scotland, has created 11,967 houses for workers. Many new motion picture theaters are being opened in Switzerland. Nearly 3,000,000 bags of coffee were grown in Colombia last year.

Swiss people are expected to buy 11,000 new automobiles this year. Chile has just placed a sales tax on phonograph records. In a recent week 50,000 unemployed in Britain returned to work.

Enrollment of the East Liverpool district schools totaled 5,959—just 41 under the 6,000 mark—at the close of January, Superintendent of Schools Charles S. McVay reported to the board of education today.

In the high school 1,068 were enrolled as compared with 1,066 for the corresponding month last year. In the elementary schools the enrollment

CERAMIC CITY'S CHEWING GUM BILL LAST YEAR WAS $21,600

Chewing gum is a favorite confection among residents of East Liverpool. A nationally-known chewing gum manufacturing concern has collected data showing that an average of 90 cents for every man, woman and child in East Liverpool was spent for chewing gum last year, the city's chewing gum bill amounting to $21,600. If this gum was laid end to end it would be more than 10 miles long, extending from the Diamond to Industry. In Ohio, it is estimated $5,310,000 was spent for "wax" last year. This gum laid end to end would make a strip, 25,147 miles in length, circling the world.

Three towboats, the Steamers J. H. Hillman, Cruiser and Volcano, with 18 barges of coal, were tied up at Dam No. 8 today awaiting a rise in the lower pools of the Ohio river. Lock tenders reported a stage of 13.7 feet at noon with the rate of rise one-tenth foot every three hours.

The steamer Liberty is expected to arrive here tonight from Pittsburgh, the first trip for more than a week, and the Senator Cordill will arrive Monday afternoon.

Repairs were made to all the locks and gates along the river during the low water stage. A new gate track was installed at Dam 4, Legionville, Pa.

Ship 50,000 Tons of Coal.
Blowing of steamboats' sirens in the Pittsburgh harbor yesterday heralded the reopening of navigation on the Ohio river which was closed for more than a week on account of low water. Nine steamers left the harbor with a combined tow of 55 barges of coal carrying a total of approximately 50,000 tons of coal for manufacturing plants in the upper Ohio Valley.

The steamer Sam Craig, of the Union Barge Line, arrived at her landing below the Wabash bridge. The Elsey River Transportation company which chartered the motorboat, Victor, sent a tow of two barges loaded with steel bars to the lower Ohio river. It is expected that large shipments of manufactured steel products will leave the Pittsburgh harbor to southern ports within a few days.

Representatives of large shipping concerns and steamboat operators yesterday accompanied Major Jarvis J. Bain, Pittsburgh district engineer, on an examination trip, viewing the progress of the dredging work at Deadman's Island dam. Major Bain told members of the party of the plans of the government in caring for navigation during the construction of the dam.

The steamer Maggie May, owned by Captain Grit Shaw, was chartered by the United States engineers and is tending the dredges engaged in widening the channel at Deadman's Island lock and dam. The steamer recently towed all the floating equipment of the U. S. I Contracting company used during the construction of the double locks to the Pittsburgh harbor.

It was reported yesterday that the wheel of the packet Senator Cordill, which now is on her way to Pittsburgh from Cincinnati, has been cut down five inches in order to increase her speed. Captain Henry Holloway is again standing watch as pilot after visiting friends in Charleston. Captain Edgar Brookhart, formerly of the General Wood, is master and pilot on the steamer Old Reliable.

It was reported yesterday that pilots will have another bridge to "run" after April. It is expected to have the new Paducah-Brookport bridge across the Ohio river completed and opened for traffic about April 15.

Preparations are completed for the launching of the steamer Dwight F. Davis, named in honor of the secretary of war, from the boatyards of the Ward Engineering Works, Charleston, today. A daughter of the secretary will act as sponsor. Among the guests of honor will be the wife of the secretary and General T. Q. Ashburn, chairman and executive of the Federal Barge Line. Several bottles of water from the Warrior river, in which stream the boat will operate for the Federal Barge Line, will be used in the christening exercises.
